Exposition Association is about to very materially enlarge its grounds and in that connection there will brobably be important improvements made, and in the not far distant future a policy followed out that will make the grounds a public pleasure resort at all times, particularly during the summer season. A very important and interesting neeting of the Board of Directors of the Association was held Saturday afternoon at which Mr. John M. Sweeney, a member of the Board, representing outside ber of the Board, representing during acceptal, approach to belong in Pittsburgh, presented a draft for $0,250 in payment of one-fourth of $25,000 of new stock which the people he represents have taken at par; the balance, $18,750, is to

At a meeting of the Board held about the first of November, attention was called to the fact that the Lilly property lying west of the fair grounds, between it and the Back river, was offered for sale, and that it would be a very foolish thing to allow it to pass into any other hands than those of the Fair Association. The fact that the Association is yearly becoming more and more inconvenienced and crowded for want of room, and that unless the Lilly property was secured the large of the property was secured the large of the property strongly and the purchase of the property strongly and the purchase of the property strongly and the purchase of the secure are other considered the force of what sead, but the exponse that would attend the fact that $12,500 of mostgage bonds are still outstanding.

It was while this matter of the pur It was while this matter of the purchase of the Lilly property was being considered that Mr. Sweeney made a proposition that for a moment startled the Board: He said he had friends who had confidence in him, and with him had confidence in the future growth and prosperity of Wheeling. If the Board had the authority to issue stock he felt certain that he could place $25,000 at par, all the money to be paid in within forty-five days; with this amount of money in hand the Association would be able to life its 6 per cent mortgage bonds, buy the Lilly property and have about $5,000 to expend for needed improvements consequent upon the pur-stock out is, in round figures, $55,000, and this is held by about thirty people.

It was finally decided at this meeting to go ahead and purchase the Lilly property without waiting to see the outcome of Mr. Sweeney's proposition, which some of the members seemed to consider as somewhat visionary. Negotiations for the property have been carried on through a third party, and the deal has been closed at $8,350, about $2,000 more than the Board originally expected to have paid.

When Mr. Sweeney presented his draft Saturday some surprise was manifested, and the question was spring as to whether the Board had any right to make an issue of new stock. Mr.
